

Taking care of yourself helps manage stress that may come with parenting and provides good role modeling

Choose foods that support health

Go outside for walks

Ask for help if you have more stress than you feel you can handle

Get enough sleep

Connect with friends and family

Talk with your doctor about any concerns you have